Dear Sandy,

Here we are again, "coffee clatches". Yes indeed, we did that a lot this year, haven't we? And we always seemed to be able to accomplish something by it.

We sure had some swell times together. Remember the time I stayed over night at your house and I had to sleep on the floor and you kept bombing that gas in my direction? Yes, that was a night I'll never forget. I'll never forget all the times you "teased" down to Stead with Suzy and I. Boy we had some laughs then! Oh, remember when we doubled with each other Christmas night! Ha ha. I guess we're just two crazy nuts!

Sandy, I really appreciate all the good advice you have given me. I really don't know what I would have done without it. I hope that the little advice I did give you was appreciated as much. I know we have had our little feuds and disagreements but that's all in the part of being friends. There is no such thing as a perfect friendship. But if we weren't friends we wouldn't be sitting here together sipping on ice tea and gabbing about everything and everybody. I just hope that in the future we will continue to be the best of friends and have no hard feelings.

All in all Sandy we have had a pretty good year. Always stay as funny and as nice as you are. Be good and have lots of fun in the future. I hope you get all the things you want out of life. May God bless you and keep you always.

Love, Cathie

A school building ablaze with lights! That is the view of Jennings High School as one comes down the hill from Hord Avenue on Clifton. What better illustrates the never-ending service of the public school to its community--night and day, year after year?

Perhaps there is a basketball game going on--or just practice--an intramural program, Parent Night, the class play, a concert, adult education, the Christmas Program, a party, or a dance; all these are forms of educational service, entertainment, or wholesome recreation provided for those who might otherwise have none.

Thus as the school lights in a darkened community, represent services from which fresh young minds receive inspiration and intelligence, so may that school's boys and girls attack the problems of a jaded world in such a way that, like a glow from a flaming torch, enlightenment spreads wherever our graduates go!

In the pages of this book, we have endeavored to show one year's experiences in the lives of the boys and girls who attend our school.

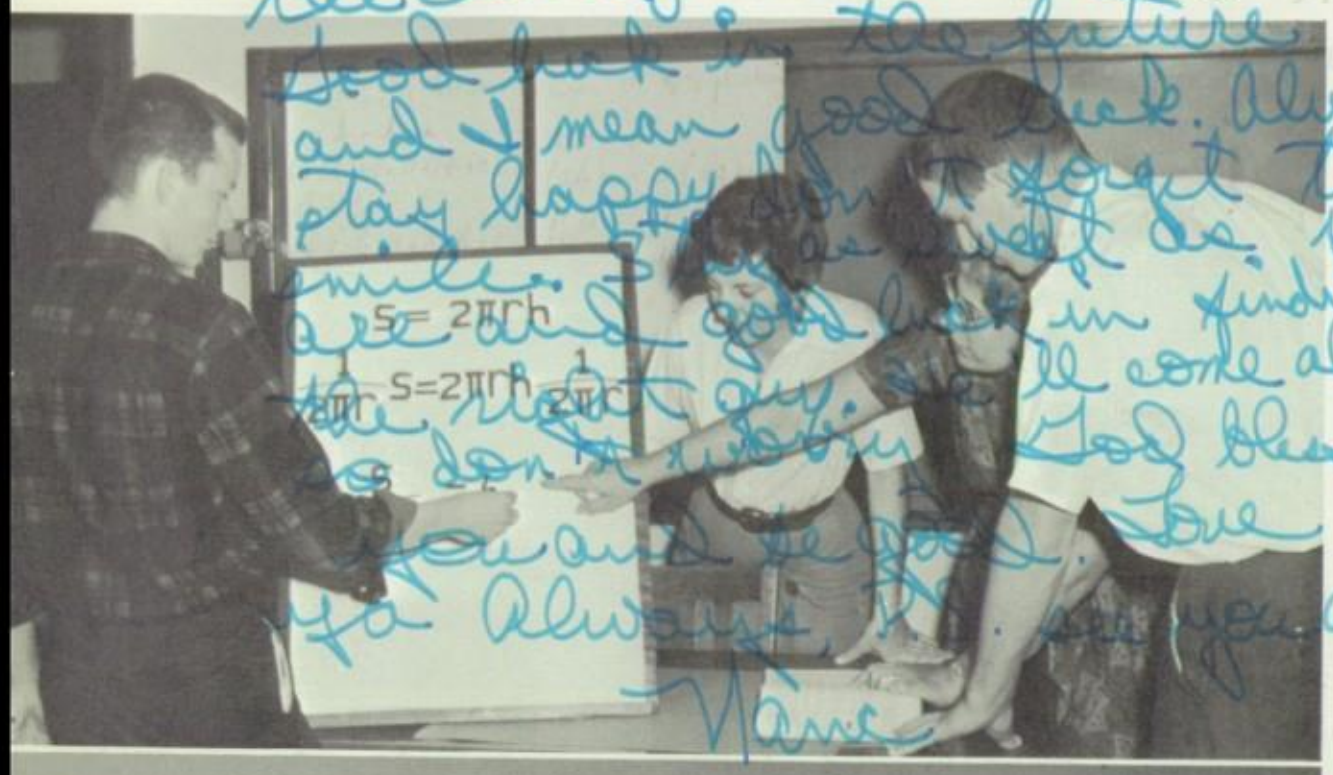
STUDENTS BUILD FOUNDATION FOR A SPACE AGE

While Mrs. Schaaf watches, Bob Strube proves to Paul Pini and Ruth Guvernator that he is a master at making numbers behave as he commands.



Today's world is one which a few years ago seemed possible only in a weird kind of science fiction magazine. Modern warfare and problems caused by the menace of communism and the pending struggle for the conquest of space which have resulted in such inventions as missiles, atomic energy, supersonic jet bombers, polaris submarines--all these and others make a mastery of mathematical and scientific principles imperative for the high school graduate who plans to attend college, and necessary for those who wish to secure training that will equip them for work above the lowest income bracket.

Our world is an intricate one even when we consider its peaceful aspects. Automation, medical and scientific research to wipe out cancer and other dread diseases, vaccines, the peaceful development of the atom with its potential for bringing a higher standard of living for mankind--such possibilities stagger the imagination!

To equip our students to live in such a world, Jennings High offers courses designed to give them the fundamental information they will need. Courses available are: Algebra I and II, Geometry. Trigonometry, College Math, Consumer's Math, Practical Science, Biology, Physics, and Chemistry.

Dicky Licklider and Dave Phillips assist Mr. Robertson as they attempt to prove Archimedes' Principle.

What can Myran DeWees and Don Walkenhorst be looking at? Could it be a tiny paramicium?

Miss Meyer is reading in Spanish as Kathy Bohnenkamp, Sandy Sattler, Judy Greer, and Nancy Bowman follow attentively.

WE BREAK THE LANGUAGE BARRIER

To teach students to use their native tongue effectively is the general objective of English and Speech teachers.

For three years, Senior High English teachers stress the writing of composition, mastery of grammar, spelling, and punctuation.

Besides training in writing, students are introduced to the vast treasury of literature--the short story, the novel, poetry, and drama. They experience the pleasure of reading Shakespeare through Julius Caesar in the Sophomore year; they become acquainted with the greatest of American writers in Junior English; and last, as Seniors, meet Hamlet, Macbeth, and Chaucer's Pilgrims.

Because our world has shrunk, and we constantly rub elbows with all mankind, it is important that our graduates know other languages than English.

Three years of Spanish and one of French now offer additional enrichment to the cultural background derived from the English classes.

"Who would be happy if we postponed our English test?" asks Mrs. Polk of her Sophomore English Class.

A wise man once said, "The best way to understand a man's behavior is to look at his past." Man is a highly complex animal, and, as nations are made up of many men, we gain from a study of World History an understanding of why problems and conflicts arise between nations and should, therefore, develop some degree of insight as to some intelligent means of solving such problems.

Realization of all that it means to be a good citizen and an appreciation of the work of the early founders of our country and the heritage that they left to us are derived from a study of American History. Studying our Constitution and passing a Constitution Test are required.

American Problems Class strives to solve the nation's current problems while the ever-absorbing mystery of the workings of their own minds keeps the psychology class busy.

The economics course imparts an understanding of our free enterprise system and its advantages over Communism and other "isms."

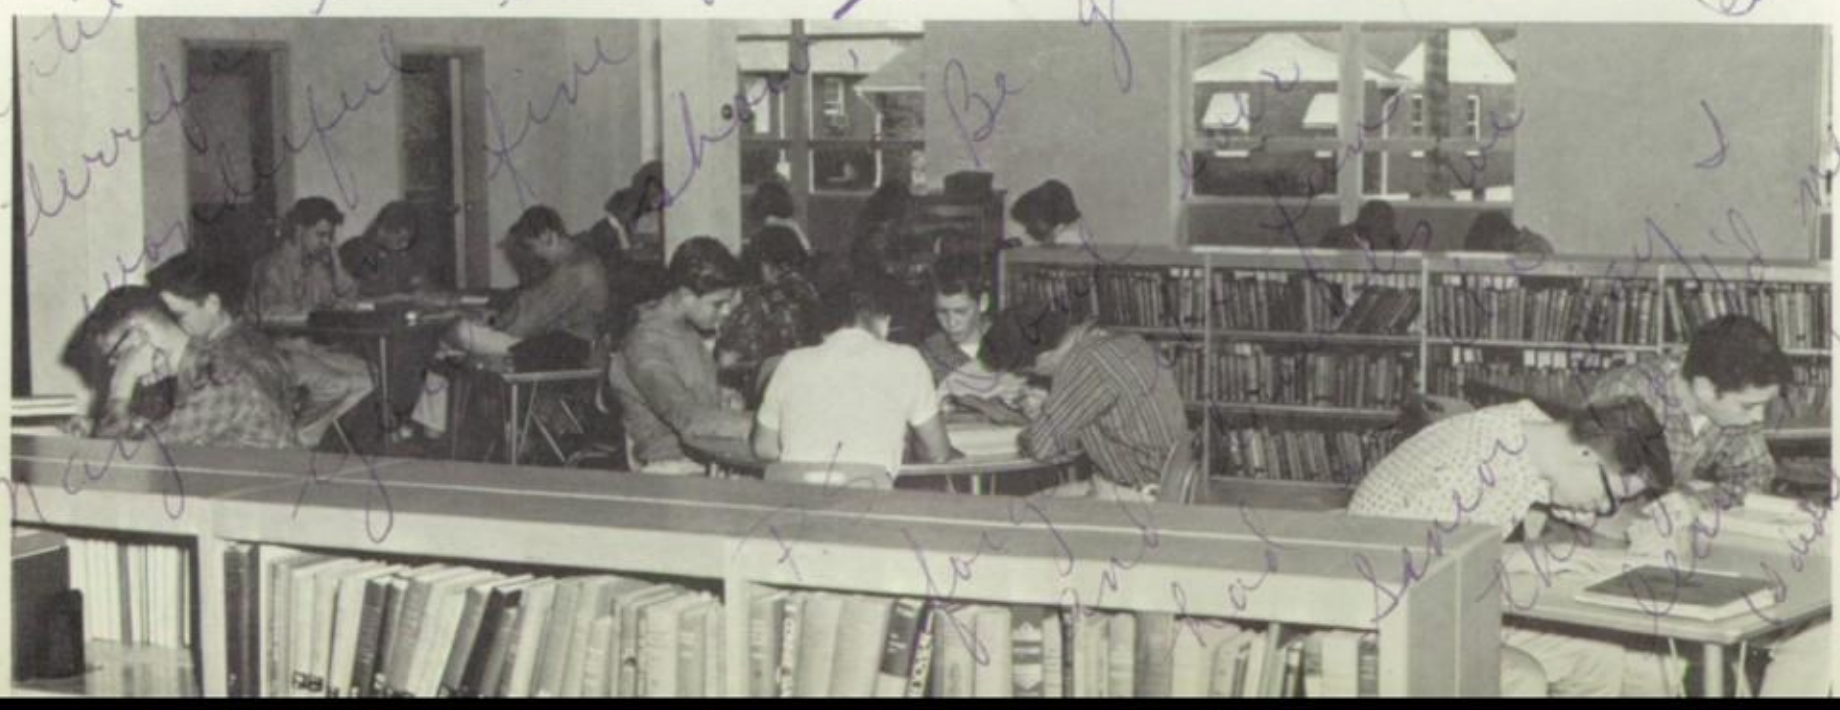
Mr. Glass directs Karen Lindhorst, Danny Barkey, and Steve Trunk as they change to our new flag in honor of Hawaii, our fiftieth state.

PAST LORE IS KEY TO SOLUTION OF PROBLEMS

In a secluded spot, our beautiful library provides a haven for the studious. Over five thousand books, ranging in subject matter through the gamut of encylopedias, biographies, atlases, gazetteers, and reference books for those special projects; magazines, past and present; novels for book reviews--all are here.

After many hours of carefully classifying and cataloguing this mass of information, Mrs. Krebs, the librarian, and her assistants stand ready to help those who seek assistance.

Students do research on class assignments.



STUDENTS PREPARE TO MEET INDUSTRY'S CHALLENGE

Judy Greer is showing Joyce Sergel and Karen Becker how far on the shorthand mountain range she intends to climb.

With a general objective designed to serve three groups of students, the Business Department offers training in bookkeeping, office procedures, secretarial practice, shorthand, and typing. The first and largest group consists of those students who wish to develop vocational competence so that they may enter the business world as bookkeepers, routine office workers, stenographers, or potential secretaries, with a maximum of business efficiency.

For those who desire training in the skills that may be of personal value--particularly those who plan to attend college--sufficient training is given to enable them to take notes in shorthand and to type papers satisfactorily. Bookkeeping principles, that enable the girl who becomes a homemaker or the boy who intends to manage his own business to manage personal finances shrewdly, to balance a checkbook, and to become an intelligent purchaser and consumer of goods, are invaluable.

Last, the business curriculum provides the high school graduate with an opportunity to understand how business is organized and operated and how our economic system operates within a democratic form of government.

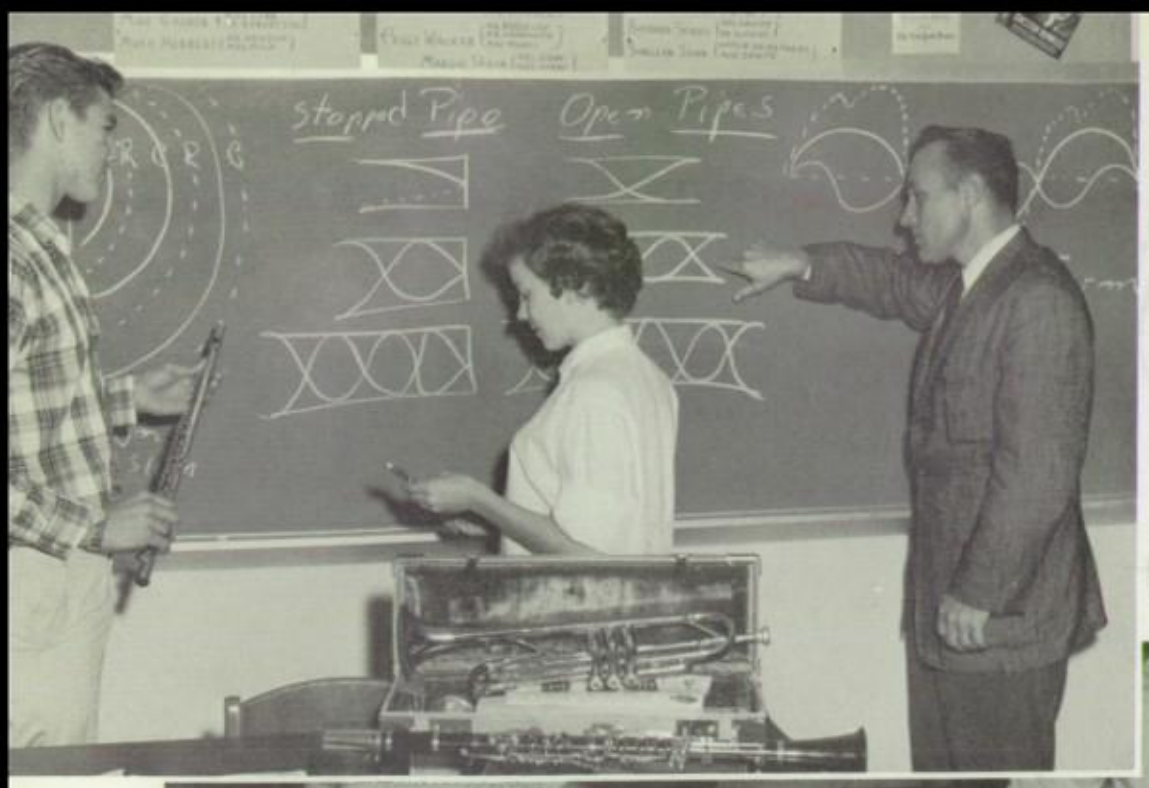
Through the years, many students from the business department have found employment in the St. Louis area, both in industry and our Government. A recent innovation is the opportunity provided for graduating business seniors to take civil service examinations here at school. Many of the seniors graduating last year are now working for the Government as a result of examinations they took at school.

Mr. McConnell helps Ken Foley on a drafting plate, while Lee Emnett is using a drafting machine.

Jim Clark, Vern Walton, Ron Shownes, and Greg Wapelhorst keep "eyes on copy" while taking a five-minute test.

Industrial Arts Education is a part of the general education offered to the students of Jennings. Industrial arts is not designed to prepare a student for a vocation, although in many cases it has been helpful, but to help him to acquire the ability to intelligently select, use, appreciate and care for the products of industry.

Industrial arts is becoming more important because the students must become familiar with the growing complexity of our modern industrial society and the increasing amount of mechanization encountered in almost every phase of daily living.



In Music Appreciation, Mr. Schmidt shows Harold Just and Sharon Koeneman how vibrating sound waves of open and stopped pipes behave as to overblowing to odd and even numbers of partials. Diagram explains the complex vibrating forms.

In Art Class, Mark Koenig works industriously on Roman lettering while Florence Hughes casts a critical look at her product.

HYACINTHS FOR THY SOUL

"If of thy mortal goods thou are bereft,
And from thy slender store two loaves alone to thee are left,
Sell one; and with the dole, buy hyacinths to feed thy soul."

In this short but revealing poem, the author expresses a feeling of appreciation for all beautiful things--a feeling developed by the magnificent influence which art in all its forms has exerted down through the ages.

A man can take many courses in different subjects, learn all about them, receive degrees, and yet, in a sense, be ignorant. For, to be completely educated, he must be capable of appreciating to their fullest extent, art, music, and drama.

These courses compose the "topping" on our education and give us a capacity for enjoyment that is denied those who know nothing of art.

Tom Hoeft and Andrea Payken rehearse lines from a cutting of "Queen Elizabeth" by Maxwell Anderson in preparation for entrance in the Mehlville Drama Contest.

A primary function of the home-making program is to prepare girls for home and family living. Both Home Economics I, II, and III Classes seek to help pupils in understanding themselves and to acquire skills and attitudes that will enable them to function intelligently, efficiently, and cooperatively as members of a family, both now and in the future. The program includes both classroom and home projects such as food preparation and serving, and clean up. All sewing is done in class.

Nancy Shaw and Diana Oertli demonstrate the proper way to bathe a baby as they learned in their unit on "Child Care."

SUBJECTS WITH A PRACTICAL ASPECT

For Juniors and Seniors who plan to go to work upon graduation, the Co-operative Occupational Education Class is of vital interest. Its primary purpose is to furnish students with an opportunity to learn an occupation of their choice with an on-the-job training while still in school. Students study the occupation in a class period and then work thus bridging the gap between school and industry.

Three years ago, in 1958, more people were killed in automobile accidents than all the dead in the Korean and Revolutionary Wars. All these in one short year! According to estimates, probably 45,000 will die this current year.

Jennings School System, realizing that this wholesale slaughter is taking place on our nation's highways, has set up, with the help of Goddard Motors, a Driver's Education Program which teaches fledgling drivers the safe way to drive.

Val Graczyk is running off cards for a custom job on the printing press.

"All aboard!" says Mr. Creath to driving student, Marlene Goette.

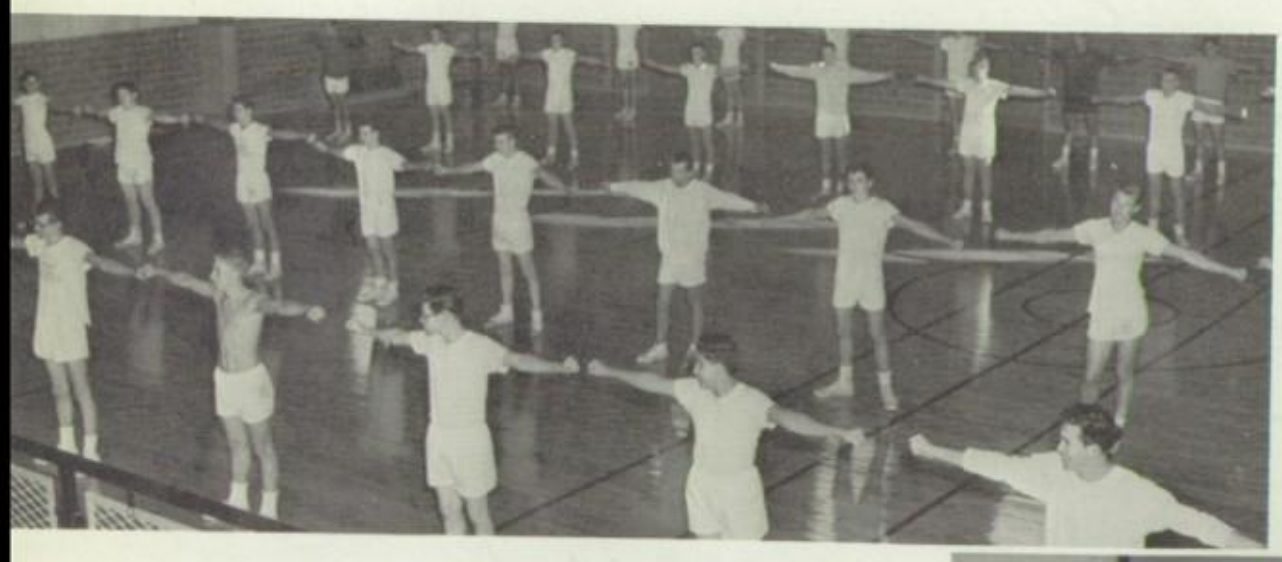
Mr. Livingston shows Seniors Paul Pini, Denny Karner, and Franklin Pyles various college catalogues as they discuss plans for the future.

CURRICULUM MEETS NEEDS OF ALL

Guidance plays a unique role in school life. Its unusual qualities lie in the fact that the purpose of guidance is to assure scholastic and vocational success.

A visit to the guidance counselor can help solve course, college, or career problems. Extensive testing programs and personal counseling help to guide students into the proper program of studies in accordance with their abilities and interests.

Providing health education, leadership training, and wholesome recreation in the form of intramural and varsity games, as well as competitive sports, the Physical Education program at Jennings is an excellent one. With its chief objective directed towards benefiting all the students--not just a few privileged to engage in competitive games--the athletic program consists of such varied activities as baseball, basketball, wrestling, track, cross country, tennis, golf, and tumbling for boys; and hockey, basketball, tennis, softball, volleyball, and tumbling for girls.



"Arms at length! Touch your toes on one. Up on two.," are directions to physical education class.

Out from behind presses and stacks of paper come the inkstained stalwarts, each with pen in hand and nose-for-news. Into every crack and crevice of our Alma Mater, these 20 students pry, reporting the news, features, and sports. This vital information is printed in a tri-weekly newspaper, "The Growl."

On November 1, 1960, the parents of the tenth grade students attended Sophomore Parent Night.

A speech of welcome given by Sue Troxler, Student Council President, opened the program in the Otis A. See Auditorium. Mr. Belsha, Charles Braihland, the Class President, and Mr. Livingston also spoke to the parents and attempted to explain the purpose of the program.

From the auditorium, parents proceeding to the Senior High Building, followed a shortened version of their child's average school day. In each classroom, the parents had a chance to become acquainted with the teacher of the subjects their children had selected.

After the program, the parents were served refreshments in the cafeteria.

One of the many persons who attended this event was this Sophomore mother who seems interested in the library bulletin display.

MUSIC MAN

A bald-domed Charlie drives home the point that being tarred and feathered has its disadvantages.

Town gossips enjoy their favorite pastime of degrading Marian Paroo.

Seventy-six trombones echoed through Jennings halls as the Mixed Chorus presented the assembly performance of the "Music Man." Drew Moore and Nancy Bowman played the leading roles as Harold Hill and Marian Paroo along with a cast of 71 others. The play concerns a slick promoter by the name of Harold Hill who is trying to promote the sale of band instruments in a small town in hopes of forming a band. Complications arise as he falls in love with Marian Paroo, the town librarian; and various town leaders try to drive him out of the village.

The play drew much enthusiasm among students of Jennings and Fairview High Schools. This is only one example of the many fine performances that Mr. Maier and the Mixed Chorus have presented through the years to the people of Jennings.

REIGNS IN THE STARDUST KINGDOM

Stardust fell on handsome boys and beautiful girls, who entered the Jennings High gymnasium that eventful Friday evening, the thirteenth of May, 1960, as they looked at the ceiling of their gymnasium, transformed into a replica of a starry, romantic night. Perhaps a star or two fell as well; but they were lucky stars casting a warm and friendly glow that seemed to say, "We approve and give our sanction to the aspirations and efforts of this Junior Class in presenting this Prom of 1960 in honor of the graduating Seniors."

Sophomores, dressed in assorted costumes, served a banquet which surpassed anything the Olympian gods might have enjoyed. Later the guests danced to the music of Russ David and his orchestra.

Interest mounted, and a hushed air of expectation hovered over the gymnasium as the magic hour of midnight approached. On the stroke of twelve, the impressive ceremony, introduced by Page Beth Hellwig, and Squire Tom Kenney, began. Then came the slow processional of maids and escorts; and, as the climax, the coronation of Miss Sue Grosch, the choice of the Juniors to reign as queen for a year.

Such a delightful evening as this was no accident, but the result of long hours of planning and hard work on the part of Juniors, determined to make their prom surpass all proms of the past. That they succeeded, all who attended will agree.

Retiring Queen, Miss Marilyn Syrett, graciously crowns her successor.

ACT WELL YOUR PART . . .

Miss Cobb puts the finishing touches on Marilyn Cox before the curtain rises.

On December 3, 1960, the culmination of many weeks of hard work, came to an end with the presentation of the Senior play, "The Curious Savage."

Under the patient and able direction of Miss Aileen Cobb, who held thirty practices, the Seniors presented John Patrick's delightful play in such a fashion as to provide the audience with a thoroughly enjoyable experience.

"People give the strangest books to this library."

"That's the lovelist seascape I've ever seen."

"You could be in the concert field, Hannibal."

Mrs. Savage, a kindly widow with a fortune and three greedy stepchildren, enters "The Cloisters," a home for the socially misfit. Because she wishes to use her money to help others, her children have her committed to this home.

Her relatives search wildly for her missing bonds, hidden in a teddy bear she carries with her always. She stubbornly refuses to reveal the hiding place, and finally her children are resigned to the fact that the bonds have disappeared. The gentle inmates have connived to keep the bonds secret from her children.

When Dr. Emmett tells Mrs. Savage that she may leave "The Cloisters," she is reluctant to leave the security of the home with its gentle inmates for the "insane outside." All inmates give her parting gifts. Miss Wilhelmina presents Mrs. Savage with the missing bonds.

The scene plunges into darkness; in fantasy the guests are seen as they see themselves.

Applause rings out as the players take their curtain call for a job well done.

FOR PEP WEEKEND

Despite the efforts of Old Man Winter with his eight-inch snow, Color Day at Jennings High was a success largely due to the pluck and determination of a loyal segment of the student body.

After a prolonged snowstorm, with the thermometer registering near or below zero and no school buses running, those who had plodded to school through snow and cold were immediately warmed by the blaze of red and white glowing in the corridors and classrooms.

Because of the weather, plans for burning the Pattonville Pirates in the traditional bonfire were canceled. However, our team beat Pattonville that night by a score of 42-40. After the game, the students enjoyed the sock hop on the shelf.

On Saturday evening, February 4, came the climax of Pep Weekend with the Basketball Dance and the coronation of Miss Nancy Mosier as queen and Mr. Richard Horvath as king.

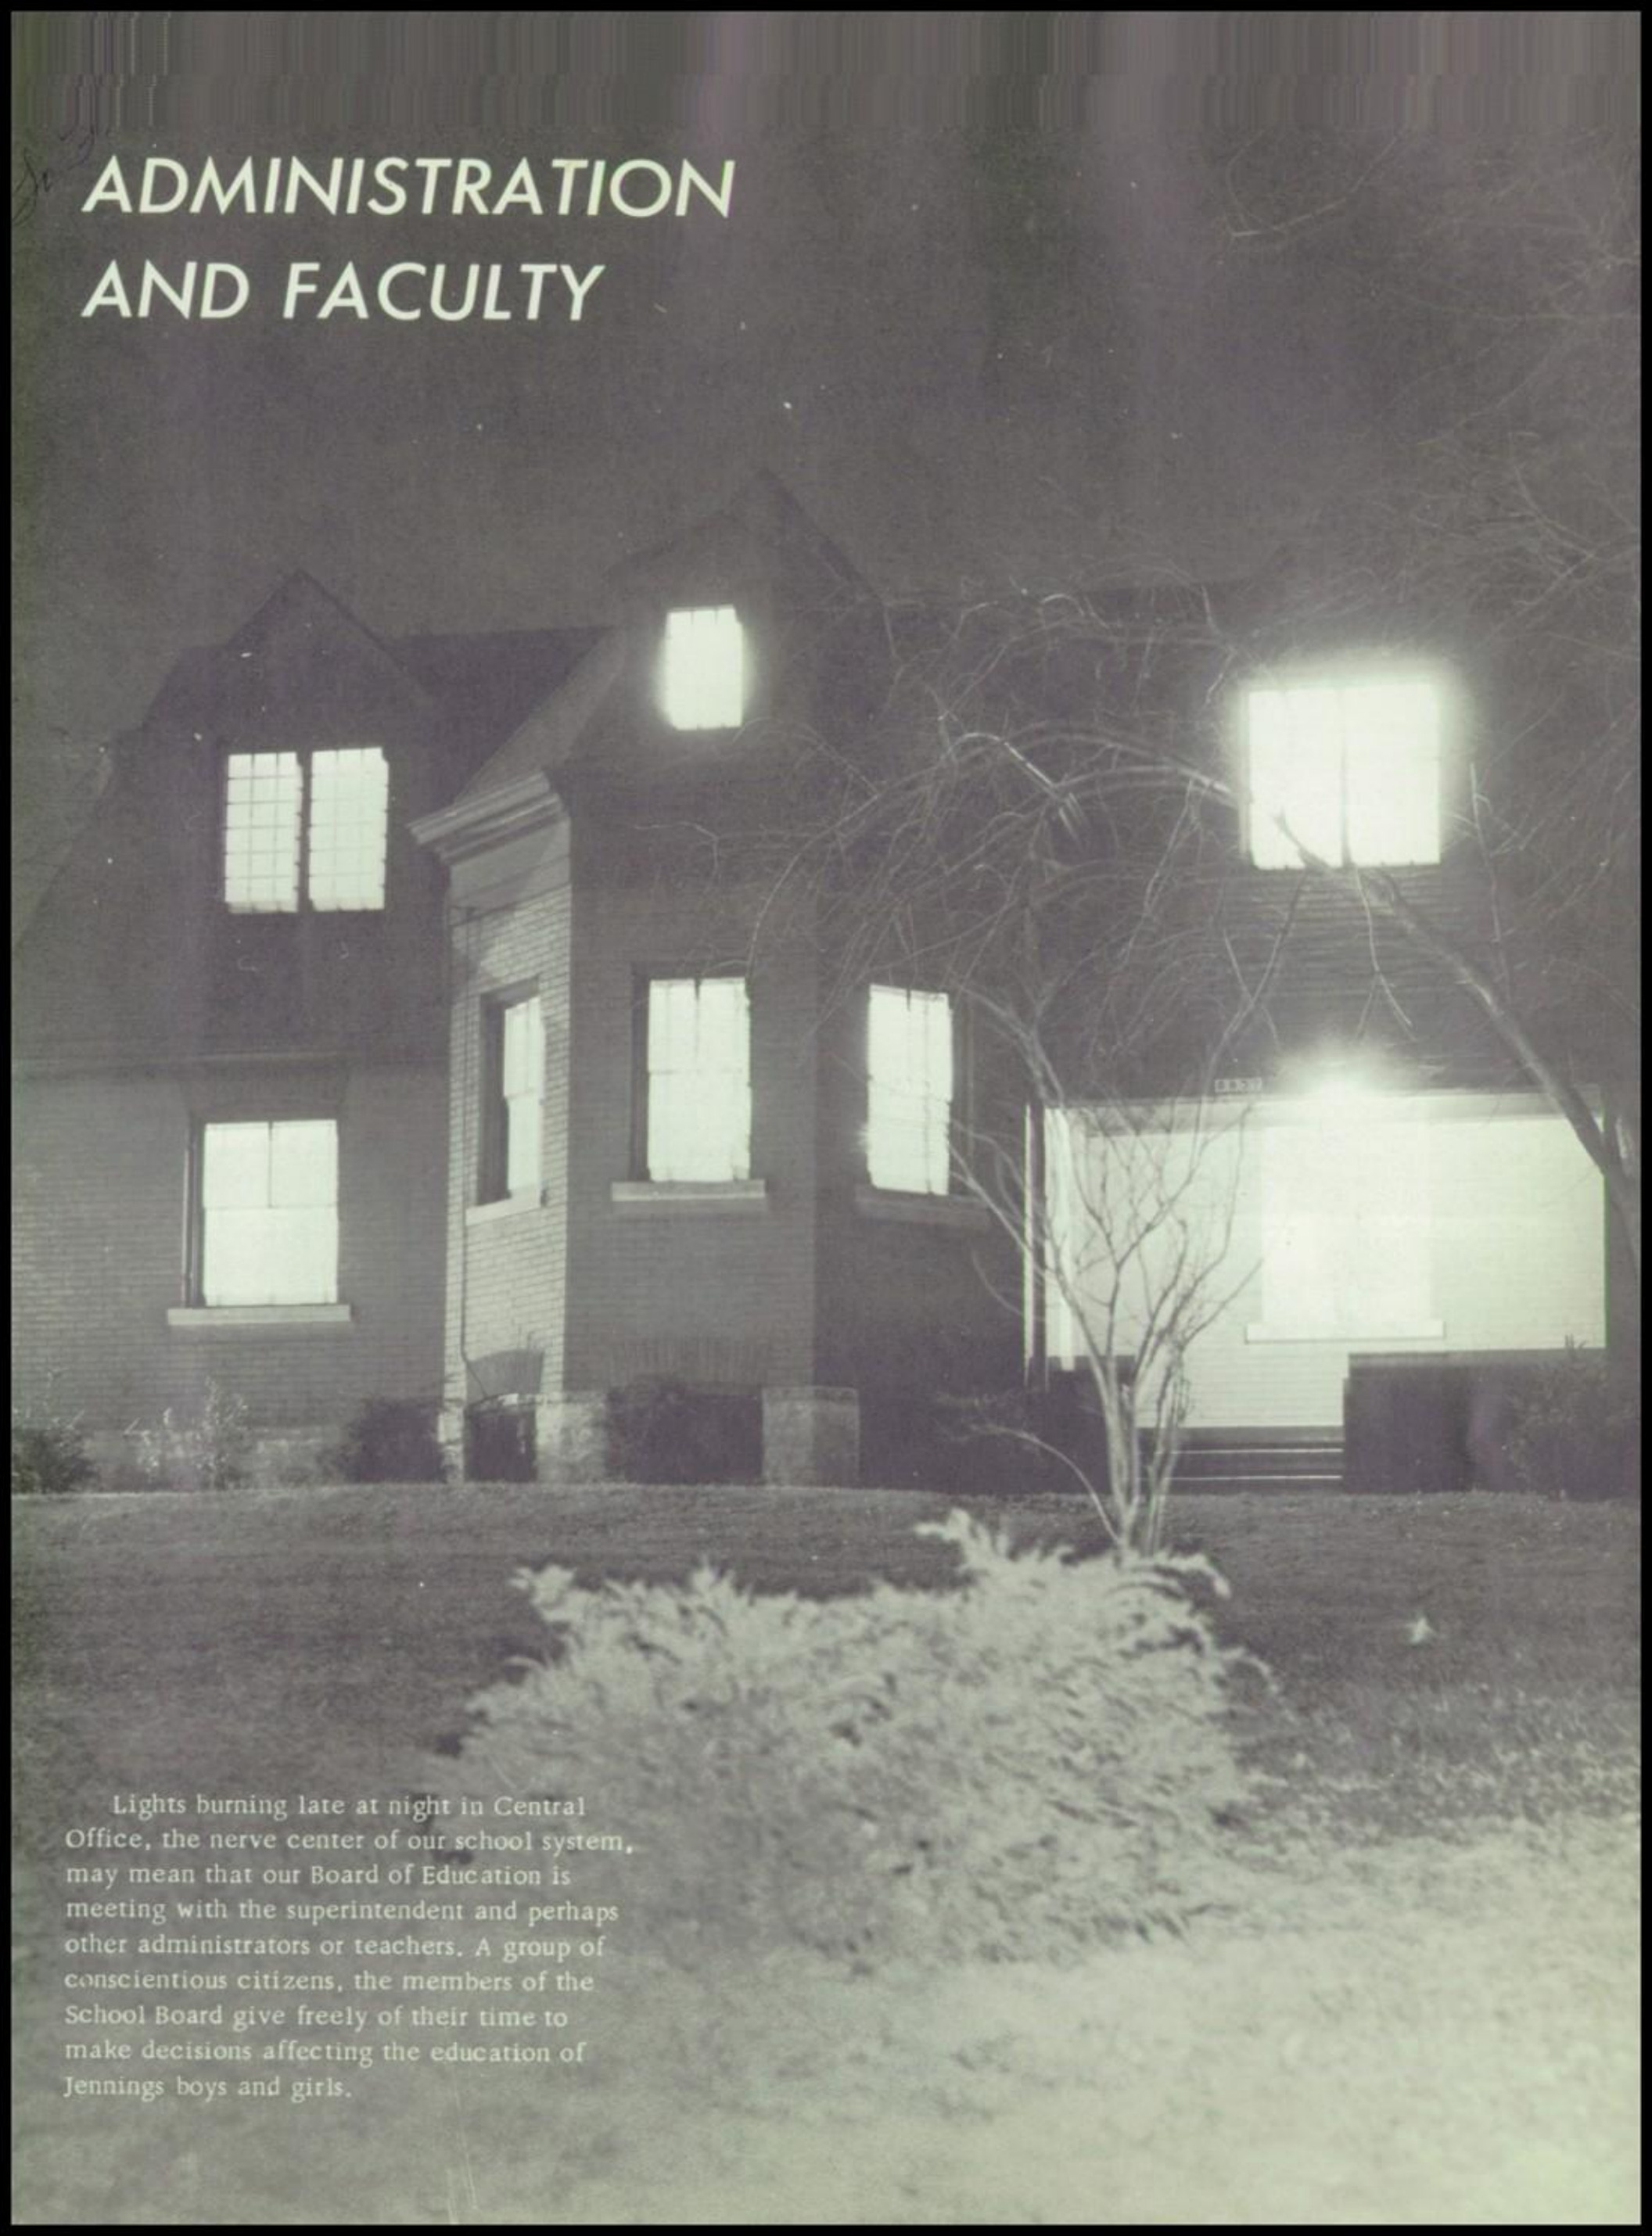
ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY



Lights burning late at night in Central Office, the nerve center of our school system, may mean that our Board of Education is meeting with the superintendent and perhaps other administrators or teachers. A group of conscientious citizens, the members of the School Board give freely of their time to make decisions affecting the education of Jennings boys and girls.

Becoming superintendent of the Jennings Schools in 1957, Mr. A. E. Wehmeier has worked unceasingly to better our educational program.

Mr. Wehmeier's high school years were spent in Collinsville and Troy, Illinois where he participated in baseball, basketball, and track. Later, at McKendree College, he obtained a Bachelor of Arts Degree and also maintained his interest in athletics by playing basketball and tennis. A graduate of the University of Illinois with a Master of Arts Degree, our superintendent has continued his education by taking advanced courses at the University of Missouri and Colorado University.

Before coming to Jennings, Mr. Wehmeier taught Mathematics and coached football, basketball, and track. During his first years at Jennings, he served as principal and, later, as assistant superintendent.

Mr. Wehmeier is an avid worker and has spent many hours on our building program which was completed last year. He is now concentrating on the many problems created by the recent annexation of West Walnut Manor School District. His goal is to make our school system the very best that is possible.

COMBINED EFFORTS FORMULATE

Consisting of six members, the Board of Education is the highest authority in our school system. It has the great burden of making decisions on finances and policies of the Jennings District.

Members of the School Board are elected by voters. Their authority necessitates a tremendous amount of work, and the success of their effort is seen in the consistent improvement in our schools.

SEATED: Mr. W. C. Braihland, Treasurer; Mr. A. A. Meyer, President; Mr. Robert Feld, Secretary; Mr. George Weaver, Vice-President. STANDING: Mr. Melvin E. Schlumberger, Director; Mr. A. W. Syrett, Director.

Mr. Gene McKinney came to Jennings in 1957 as principal of the Junior High School. An effective leader, he guides junior high boys and girls through the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

Mr. McKinney completed his high school work at Licking, Missouri where he played football, basketball, and tennis.

His advanced degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Education were obtained at the University of Missouri.

In addition to his graduate study at our state university, he found a little time for recreation in the form of basketball and tennis.

Advancing from the position of high school teacher in Farmington, to that of principal of the Licking High School, Mr. McKinney later became principal of the Fulton, Missouri High School. With his background of valuable experience, Mr. McKinney is well equipped to cope with Junior High problems.

Mr. Elmer Belsha, our understanding principal, came to Jennings in 1948 as a classroom teacher.

Graduating from Central High School, where he played basketball, baseball, and tennis, Mr. Belsha then attended Washington University. While working for his B.A. Degree, he played varsity basketball for four years. Later, he obtained a Master's Degree from Washington University and is currently working on his Doctor's Degree.

During his army service, our principal saw much action and was wounded twice. He attained the rank of sergeant, an excellent preparation for being a school principal. While in the army, Mr. Belsha also attended New York University, taking graduate courses there.

He has served this community for twelve years as teacher, counselor, principal of the Junior High, and now, Senior High Principal.

IN APPRECIATION OF WORK WELL DONE

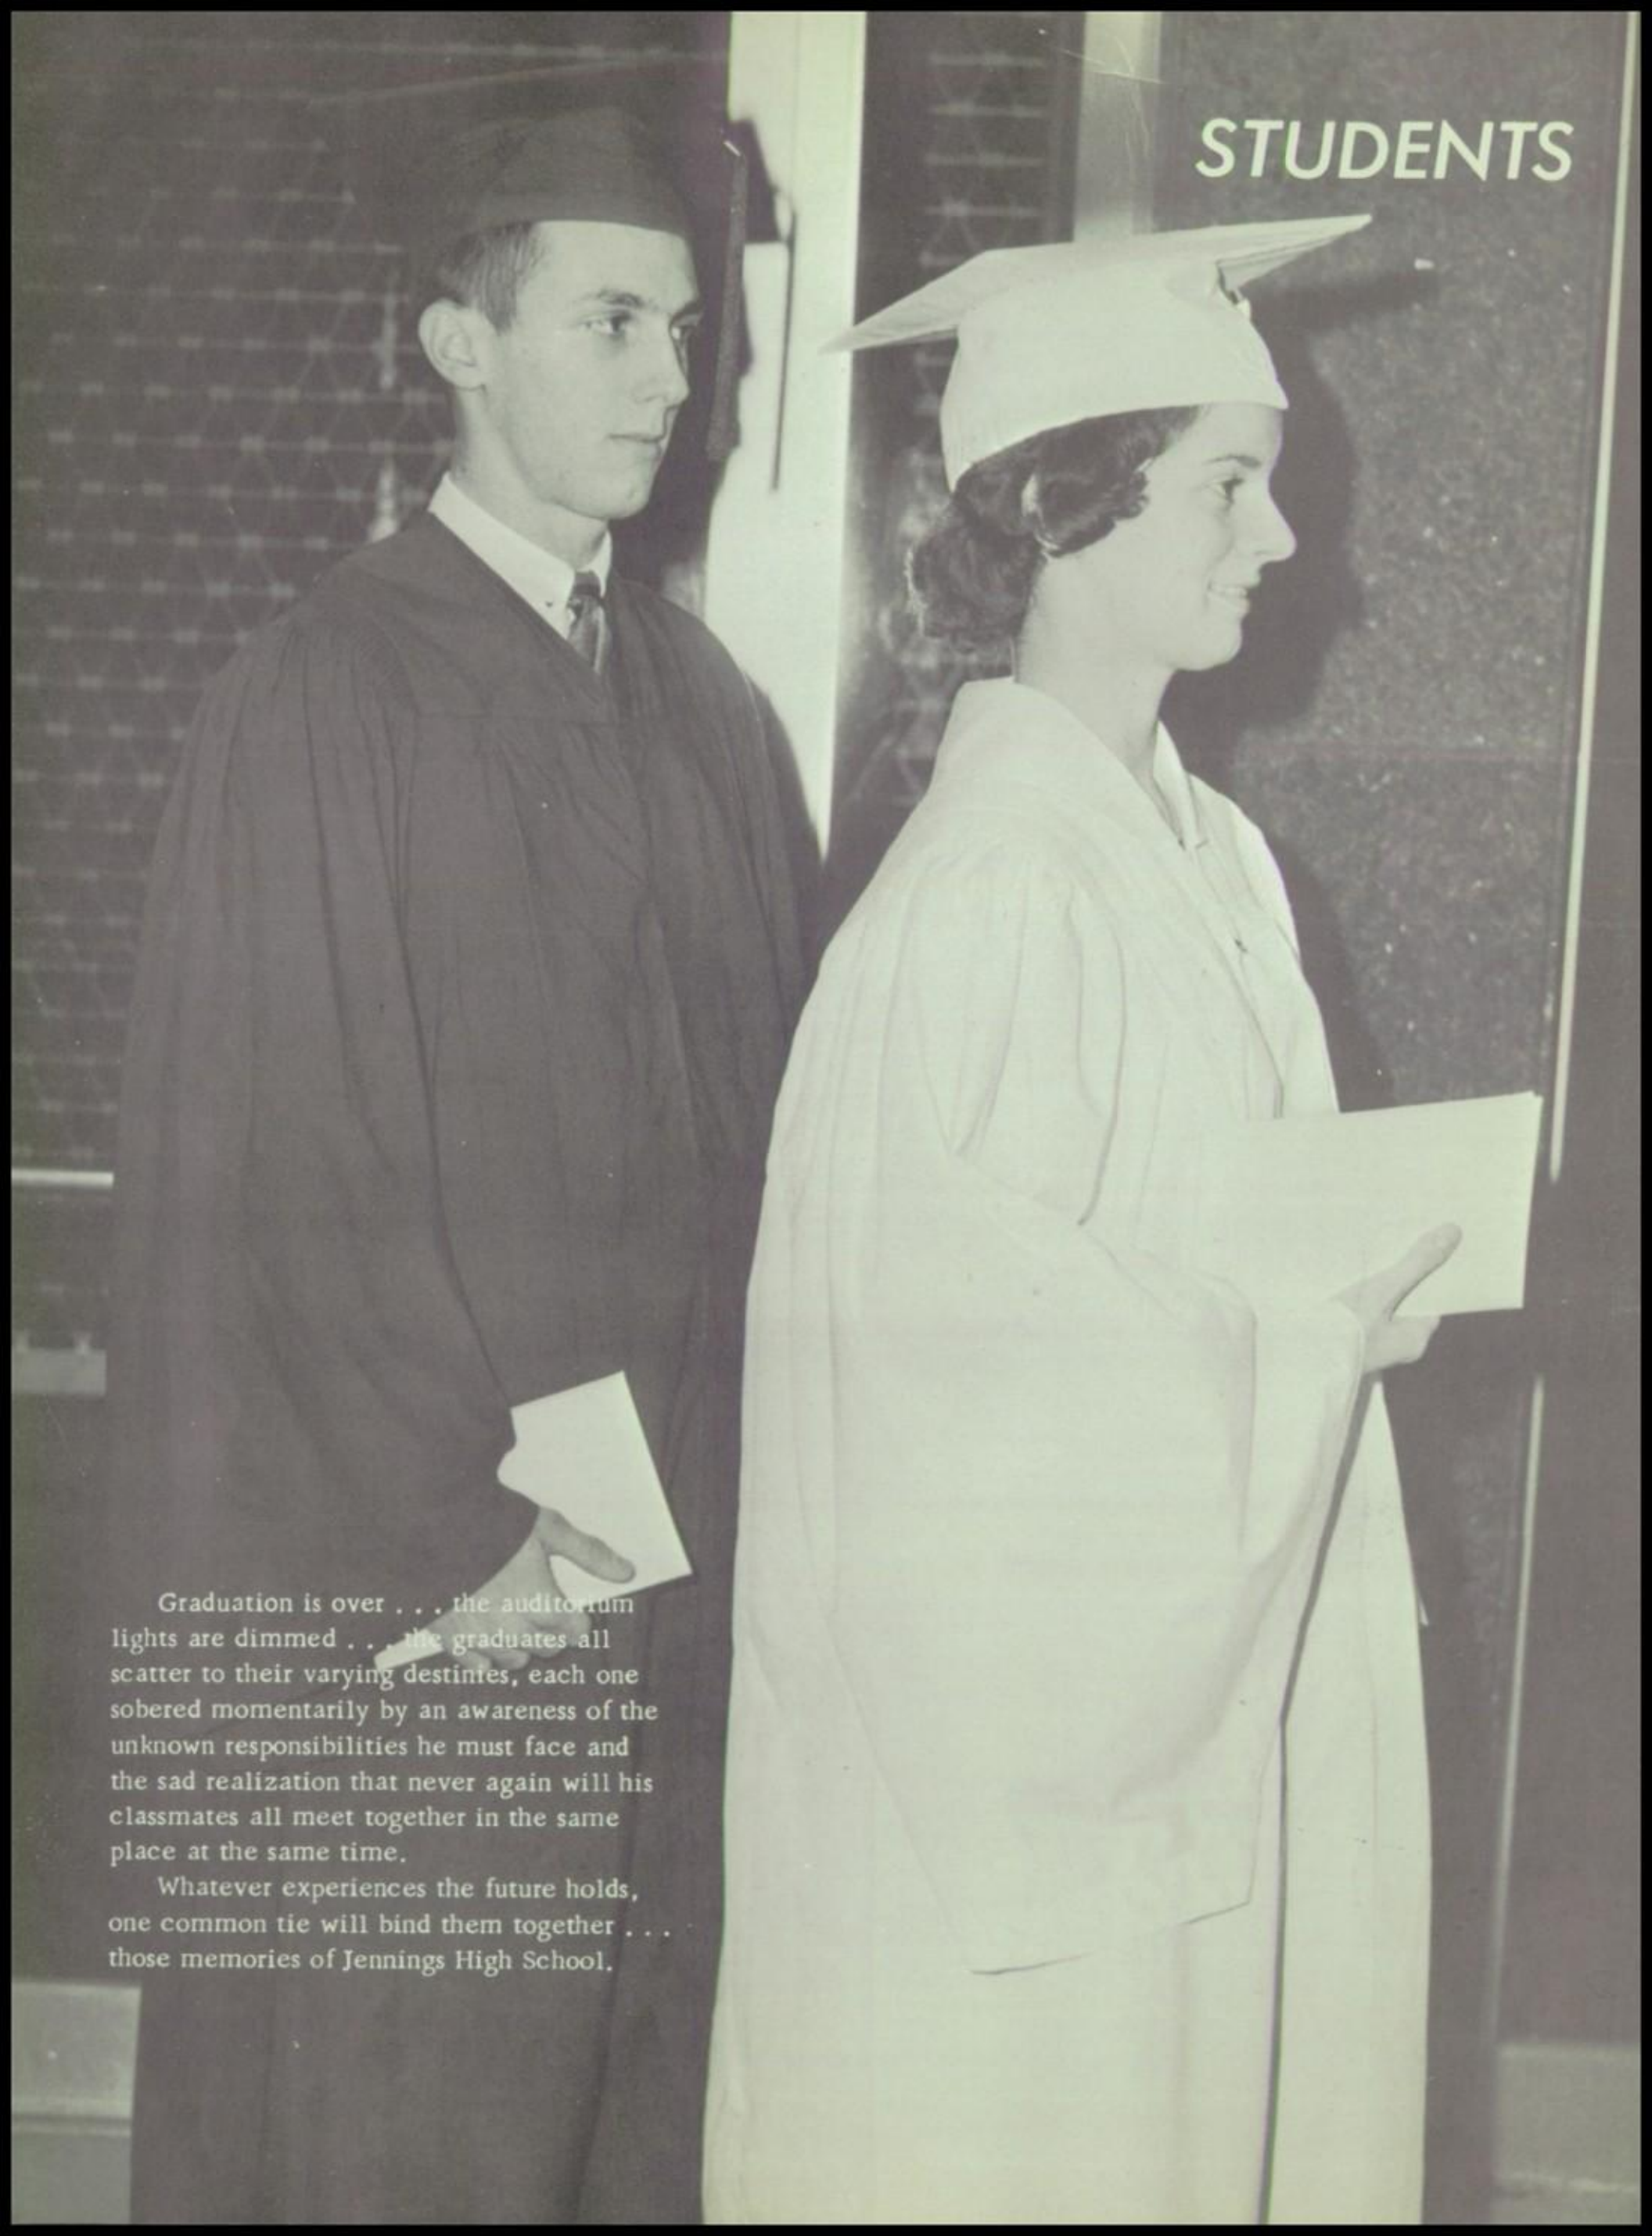
Ernie Dancha, Elmer Unland, Frank Czeschin, Gus Pulaski.

To have co-ordinated efforts among a great many individuals and groups bring about a well operated and effective school. This coordination is especially evident in the cafeteria staff, which provides well balanced and wholesome meals, and the maintenance force, which keeps our school and campus comfortable.

Mrs. Horstman, Mrs. Bohnenkamp, Mrs. Gruner, Mrs. Lena, Mrs. Wilson.

Homemade pie is a delicacy enjoyed by Jennings students every day. They're as good as the ones Mom bakes!

STUDENTS



Graduation is over . . . the auditorium lights are dimmed . . . the graduates all scatter to their varying destinies, each one sobered momentarily by an awareness of the unknown responsibilities he must face and the sad realization that never again will his classmates all meet together in the same place at the same time.

Whatever experiences the future holds, one common tie will bind them together . . . those memories of Jennings High School.

As Graduation draws near, we Seniors realize that school has not been so bad as some of us pretended to think. Somehow, strangely, our class periods now become shorter, and the once slow-moving days now flash by. Our thoughts drift back to big moments of our Senior year . . . that first day as Seniors . . . another memorable day when our Senior rings came . . . the exciting times during the basketball season with its fun . . . if the players lacked ability and luck, they had real school spirit . . . the long hours of homework and the tests we all struggled through . . . the thrill our track team brought us in our Junior year . . . our high hopes of winning in our Senior year . . . the fine Senior Play . . . our wonderful Prom given to us by the Juniors who did a marvelous job (just a little short of our Prom); yet the joy we experienced was fantastic . . . our Senior picnic . . . all these made an eventful and enjoyable year. And when graduation night finally arrives, we will leave Jennings Halls forever, with saddened hearts, yet proudly clutching our Jennings High School diplomas.

At last the long awaited day comes when the Seniors receive their rings.

ORGANIZATIONS

Dear Sandy,
I surely think that we are the most mixed up couple in the entire school. I sincerely hope that we do not remain the lost people in the big hard world, but find some goal or person to live for and I hope and pray that we will succeed in obtaining these ultimate goals. Good Luck with future plans after graduation and I hope to be seeing you this summer
God Bless you guiding Light Always!
Love,
Ronnie

Two Student Council officers decorating our Christmas Tree! In the beginning, the tree is an ordinary one; yet, with the addition of each light, each ornament, it slowly turns into the glowing spirit of Christmas.

And such is the story of our school's many fine organizations. Stripped of them, like the Christmas tree shorn of its ornaments our school is like any other. With its group activities, it becomes a glowing institution developing leadership and zealous school spirit, both so vitally important to a well rounded education.

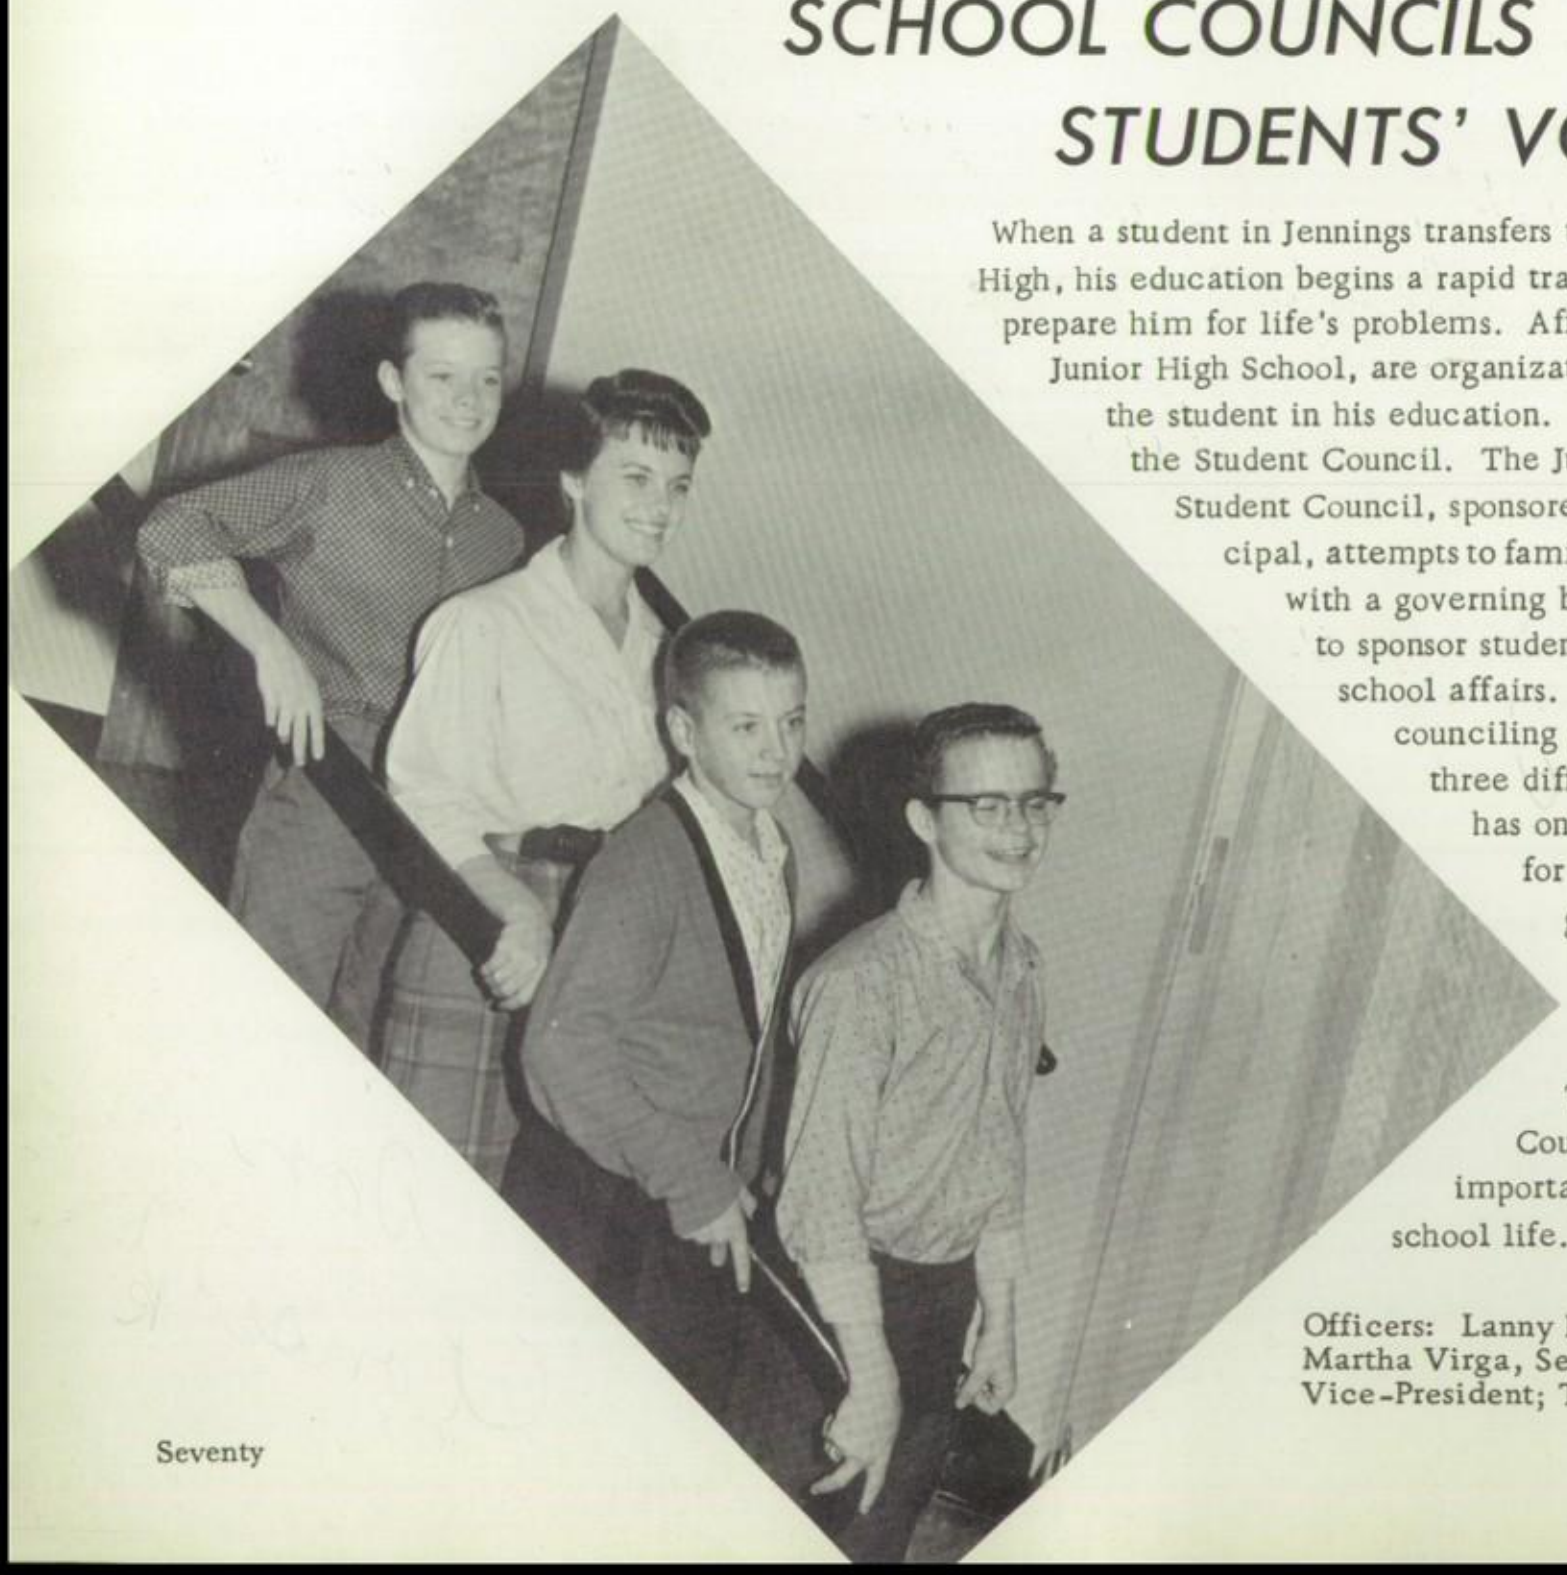
SCHOOL COUNCILS REPRESENT STUDENTS' VOICE



When a student in Jennings transfers to the Junior High, his education begins a rapid transformation to prepare him for life's problems. Affiliated with the Junior High School, are organizations which aid the student in his education. One of these is the Student Council. The Junior High Student Council, sponsored by the principal, attempts to familiarize students with a governing body, as well as to sponsor student social and school affairs. Each of the counciling groups in the three different grades has one representative for its particular group, from which officers are selected. The Student Council plays an important part in school life.

Officers: Lanny Hellwig, Treasurer; Martha Virga, Secretary; Fred Castle, Vice-President; Tom Henry, President.

Officers: Ken Stewart, Treasurer; Sue Troxler, President; Bob Weber, Vice-President; Sue Grosch, Secretary.

No better definition of the function of our Student Council can be given than that expressed in the Preamble of the Student Constitution. The most significant part includes these words, "We, the students of Jennings Senior High School, in order to provide for student participation in school government, establish better understanding between faculty and students, afford training in citizenship, and insure sincere respect for law and order, do ordain and establish this constitution for student government in Jennings Senior High School."

Six representatives of each class, including the officers of the council, carry on many activities during the year, making Jennings a better school for all. These include dances, pep rallies, and the sponsoring of many clubs.

Prior to 1952, the GROWL was published regularly as an extra-curricular activity. Such enthusiasm was shown for the newspaper, that in 1952, a Journalism class first issued the paper. Under the supervision of Mrs. Krebs, our students learn about the various phases of newspaper by actually performing them. The result is a tri-weekly packed with information about Jennings High students and events.

A "NOSE FOR NEWS"

Curt Gasten, Art Editor; Gerry Puglisi, Features Editor; Kathy Moore, Assistant Editor; Don Veidt, Sports Editor; Patsy Buder, Editor; Janice Rohne, Assistant; Sondra Dietz, Assistant; Mr. Seagrist; Kathy Miller, News Editor.

Students of the Junior High School are fortunate to have a school newspaper such as the "ROAR" to inform them from a student's point of view of the news around their school. The newspaper is sponsored by Mr. Seagrist and is a credited subject for the eighth graders only. The newspaper has one Editor-in-Chief, as well as an Associate Editor, Assistant Editors, Art Editor, and an Editor for each of the four main sections: The school news, features, exchange, and the sports section. These officers are re-elected every semester by the class on Mr. Seagrist's recommendation. The ROAR has progressed from a very meager beginning to a publication that is informative and enlightening for the student body, as it comes out every three weeks.

THROUGH SONGS WE EXPRESS

The Senior High Mixed Chorus found itself in the public eye on several occasions during the past year. The department has largely gone "Visual" over the past years, operating on the assumption that an audience in these days of ever-present mass entertainment expects and demands programs that are for listening and watching.

For a fall program the chorus presented an assembly-length capsule "Music Man" based on the story by Meredith Wilson, an extremely timely show, since it was running concurrently at the American Theater. Five performances of this show were given, the last at Fairview High School, where the cast, headed by Drew Moore and Nancy Bowman, drew many laughs and much applause from an enthusiastic audience.

Girls' Quartet: Kathy Drew, Nancy Bowman, Carol Rhodes, and Beth Hellwig. Accompanist; Sharon Mitchell.

The Christmas Concert was a moving, serious program with overtones of gayety to observe both the religious and secular aspects of the holiday season.

In the spring, come school and hospital concerts, one formal concert in the "tuxedo" atmosphere; but most significantly, a sustained, period of six to eight weeks' work culminating in a two-night presentation of a major musical show.

ROW ONE: Jerry Shrum, Bill Rinehart, Don Agnew, Sandy Walker, Peggy Walker, Carol Warman, Carol Rhodes, Mr. Maier. ROW TWO: Jean Shepherd, Christy Bengard, Harriet Schweisguth, Nancy Blodgett, Beth Hellwig. SPLASHES OF TONE COLOR IN TIME AND SPACE

A pleasure much enjoyed and appreciated by the Jennings Community is the privilege of attending performances given by the Jennings Band.

Under the skillful and challenging direction of Mr. Charles K. Schmidt, the band displays its ability in presenting various types of music selected to give each student complete expression in all instrumental music idioms.

The band goes on tours, participates in the All-County band-solo and ensemble festival, and gives numerous concerts.

Band training affords excellent preparation for those students who wish to attend college as music majors and for those who wish to supplement their incomes by playing music while attending college.

Terry Schieler, captain of the drum section, discusses the condition of the percussion equipment.

SEGMENTED PARTS

The woodwind section is called on to represent the string section in symphonic music.

Ron DuRall, Glenn Taylor, and Dale Taylor comprise the bass section.

Our French horn section tries to "make like" that of the Philadelphia Symphony.

OF A COMPLEX WHOLE

Our brass section is called upon to "make like Heroes" or lament beautiful sentimental passages.

INDUSTRIOUS STUDENTS SERVE

To give service to the students who use the library is one of the many purposes of the Library Club.

The members of this club devote their free hour to checking books in and out, arranging magazine displays, and repairing books.

ROW ONE: Mrs. Krebs, Toni Wimberly, Beverly Cromer, Sharon Koeneman. ROW TWO: Bob Cox, Duane Mattingly, Shirley Schmeider, Mary Porter, Ann Sievers, Jeanette Raper.

"SE HABLA ESPANOL AQUI"

Those students who are currently taking a course in Spanish, or who have completed two years in the study of the language are eligible for membership in the club.

The Spanish Club meets once each month under the direction of Miss Meyer and Mrs. Harrison.

The club endeavors to encourage and expand knowledge and interest in all Spanish-speaking people, their culture, music, art, customs, and ideas.

Wed Sandy,
I couldn't find room elsewhere so I guess this will do. Good Luck in "Diego" from one "Diego" to another
Best of Luck in the years to come

Patti

By becoming a member of the Future Teachers of America while still in high school, a student is helped to determine whether or not he should become a teacher later on. These future teachers are permitted to observe regular classroom situations; and, occasionally, may substitute for an elementary teacher for a short period of time.

The Otis A. See Chapter of the Future Teachers of Jennings High, sponsored by Mrs. Dixon, Mr. Grace, and Mrs. Krebs, is a very successful and active group. Members plan and enjoy many activities such as a barbecue for their own enjoyment and a dinner for all the Future Teachers of both St. Louis and St. Charles Counties.

This Chapter is named after Mr. Otis A. See, the former Superintendent of the Jennings School System.

Planning a rebuttal strategy are two of the Jennings varsity debaters, John Nax and Frank Pyles.

Sandy,
So a really sweet girl. You are always smiling. I hope to be your ~~fried~~ friend for a long time.
Good luck in your future life. See you later -

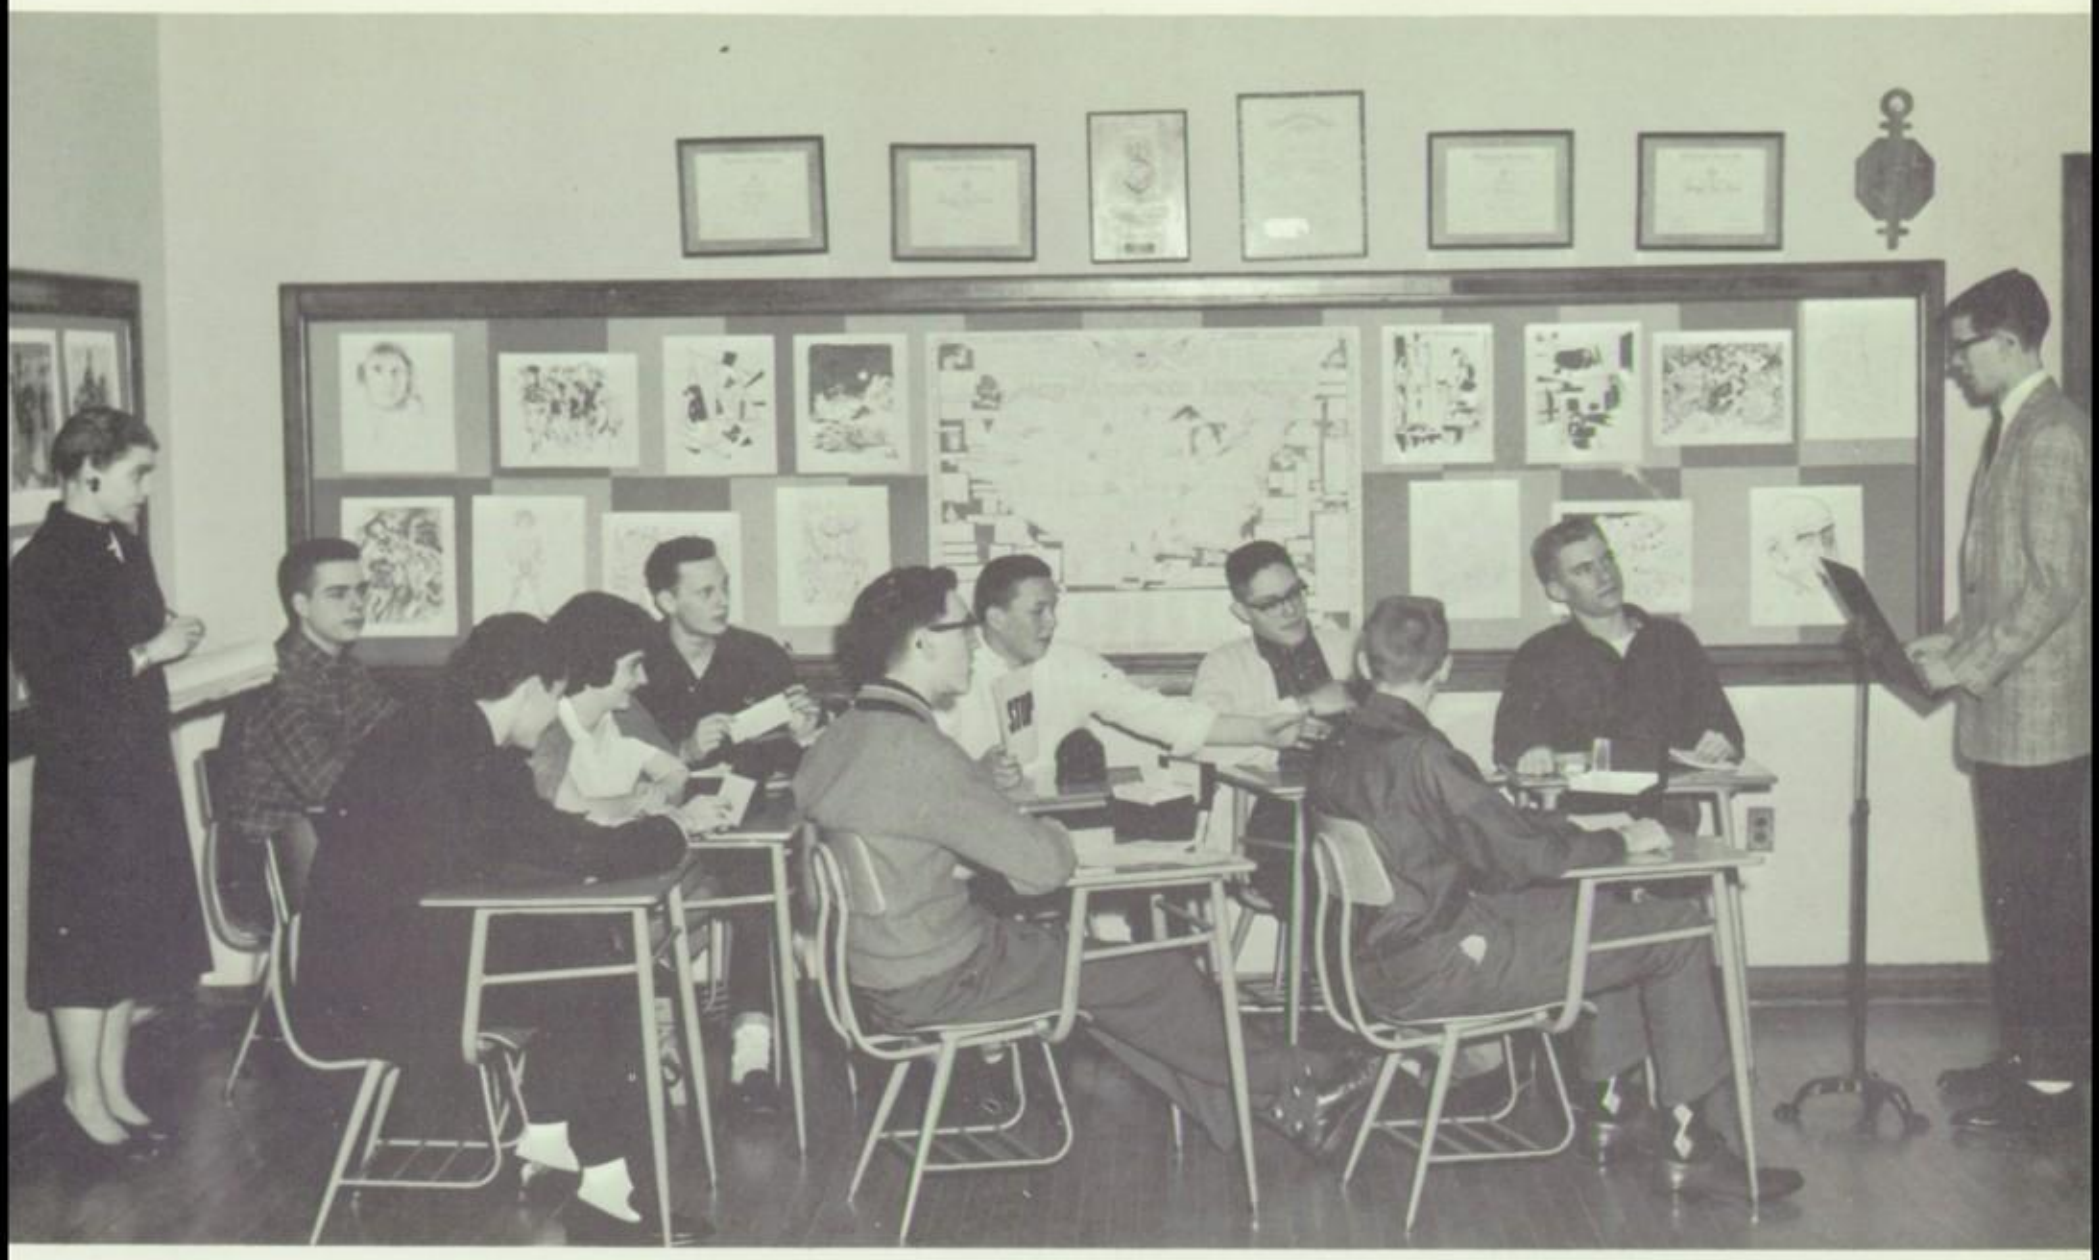
MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES, AND GENTLEMEN . . .

Speakers plan extemporaneous speeches from file; while others practice. Having drawn a topic, they must next organize and plan the material; and after that, rehearse.



ROW ONE: Gary Cohen, Frank Pyles, Allen Meyer; Speaker, Duane Mattingly. ROW TWO: Miss Puckett, Shelby Dixon, Ann Medley, Bob Drabing, Jim Hauschild, John Nax, David Siering.

Learning to speak properly and getting ideas across to others is the main challenge to those who participate in debate. There are four different types of speech that debaters learn. They are original oratory, interpretation, extemporaneous speaking, and declamation.

Members of the varsity team are: John Nax, Ann Medley, Frank Pyles, and Bob Drabing. The two alternates are: Shelby Dixon and Allen Meyer. Dave Siering is Chairman of Original Oratory. Extemporaneous Chairman is Duane Mattingly, and Interpretation Chairman is Andrea Payken.

Besides participating in debates in the St. Louis area, Jennings debaters journey to Rolla, Missouri to attend the District National Forensic League Tournament and also to Jefferson City to attend the Student Congress.

Many interesting things happen to debaters during the year. Present debaters will remember the times in which John Nax and Shelby Dixon appeared in panels on television and when the Junior Town Meeting was held at Jennings on March 12.

Perhaps the goal of most debaters is to become a member of the National Forensic League, dubbed N.F.L. In order to become a member, the debater must earn at least 25 credit points. This accomplishment will earn a member the Degree of Merit title. The three other degrees that a debater can earn are: Degree of Honor, 75 points; Degree of Excellence, 150 points; and the Degree of Distinction, 250 points.

Each year members of the National Forensic League have a chance to go to Rolla, Missouri to attend the National Forensic League State Tournament. Miss Puckett, the debate coach and N.F.L. sponsor, has the utmost confidence in the current squad.

CLUBS MEET VARIED INTERESTS

Under the supervision of Miss Kay Yowell, the Jennings Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America enters its fourth year. Meetings take place every third week of each month and are used for planning future activities which include field trips, parties, bake sales, car washes, and special projects planned to include the FHA members and their mothers.

FHA girls are fortunate in that they enjoy speakers whose topics range from hair styling and make-up to interior decorating. FHA also sponsors the annual spring fashion show and runs a checkroom at basketball games for a profit making activity.

Diane Bimson and Bea Dehne sample their pumpkin pie which was the Thanksgiving dessert in a traditional menu planned and cooked by Home Economics classes.

Among the clubs of Jennings High is a group known as the Lettermen's Club, which was organized primarily to serve our school in any useful way. Lettermen often serve as ushers at school functions.

An organization which provides many opportunities for participation in a wide variety of sports is the Girls' Athletic Organization. Sponsored by Miss Purdom, its members enjoy recreational activities which promote their mental, social, and emotional development.

ROW THREE: Nax, Schuerman, Flory, Komadina, Revling, Steinmetz, Graves, Mertz, Wehmeyer, Goelz, Jobst, Johnston, Giambalvo, Holmes, Gammill.

To promote school spirit and support the team is the twofold purpose of the Pep Club. Membership consists of 143 lively girls who have sold pennants, provided busses for games away from home, sold mums as part of the Pep Weekend festivities, held Pep assemblies, and, for the first time, have given Pep letters to members.

This organization, under the supervision of Miss Weems and Jane Quitzow, the president, give loyal support to the team and add color to the athletic activities.

ATHLETICS

Twenty-five hundred years ago men came from all parts of a civilized nation every four years to compete in a great athletic spectacle called the Olympics. The Greek belief in the importance of athletic training is seen today in our modern physical education training programs which emphasize the importance of keeping our bodies fit.

Sandy, I'm sorry I'll miss Senior Do but I'll be there in spirit. Have a lot of fun and don't drink too much beer. Be good! Best wishes and good luck next year. Be good and write me next year in school and let me know what you're up to. Love ya, Sandy

The Bulldogs experienced a difficult season this year losing a heart-breaker to Western Military Academy in the Jennings Tournament 56-54, but coming back to take third place by defeating Hazelwood 71-48.

During the 1960-61 basketball season, the Bulldogs faced such difficult teams as St. Charles, Riverview, University City, and Brentwood. A highlight of the season came when a red hot Jennings handed Pattonville its first league defeat in a double overtime by the score of 42-40.

The team also brought honor to itself and our school by scoring the second highest number of points ever scored in Jennings history. This feat took place in the game played with Parkway in the first round of the North County League Tournament. The score was 89-74. The old record stands at 98 points.

Under the direction of Mr. Zemunski, the Jennings B team showed fine skill and stamina throughout the season. Although they had gone through a tough season, the Bulldog Pups wound up in third place in the North County Tournament.

Unlike the varsity, the captains are picked for each game, working in rotation. Members of the B team prove to be fine prospects for the Varsity Team.

Karl Kruse goes up for a jump shot while Rich Horvath and Dennis Stewart wait to assist if needed.

GRAPPLERS WIN

Mr. Arthur Kovell's matmen, supported by five returning lettermen, are looking toward a successful wrestling season. In its fifth year as a varsity sport, the Bulldogs are supported by co-captains Lou Klusak and Craig Coleman. Among them are, 205-lb. heavyweight Roy Sinclair, 120-lb. Dave Dye, and 145-lb. Rich Bohnenkamp, all experienced wrestlers. Sporting their new uniform jackets, they pose a problem to any challenger.

greatest girls I have ever known, I hope you get

When school opens, one call resounds above all others. That is "Play Ball" as our varsity takes to the field with Coach Don Creath as trainer.

Experiencing a fine season, our Bulldogs won nine and lost two. Veteran Lettermen, Len Duff, Paul Friemel, Dick Licklider, Ed Owens, Dave Phillips, Bob Weber, and Mike Trittler, led the squad, which showed fielding and hitting equal to the ease of pros. High spot of the season was Dick Licklider's no-hit pitching against Fairview, backed by fine hitting of Dave Phillips and Mike Trittler.

everything you want in everything you do. You're a lot of fun to be around and make everybody proud to be with. You're a swell girl and you know how to do things (except bake cakes) and get what she wants. You should go far in this world and make a lot of friends. Good luck in everything you do.

HARRIERS SET RECORDS

Lacking strong distance runners in track last year, Coach Jerry Burgoyne started a Cross-Country squad at Jennings. To everybody's surprise they had a successful season with impressive victories.

The first Cross-Country meet in Jennings history was against Country Day. Losing by one point, the experience spurred them on to victory against Lutheran Central Crusaders. With victory under their belts, the Bulldogs went to Ladue Suburban Invitational Cross-Country Meet where Ed Schneider finished second in 11:04 over the two-mile run. Dennis Deppe finished twenty-first. Both Ed and Dennis won medals. The thincladded Bulldogs went to Parkway where they gained an impressive 21-38 victory. Then they went to the largest Invitational Cross-Country meet in the area, the Beaumont Invitational. After the excitement of the last meet, the Bulldogs went to Ladue for a meet with Ladue and Riverview, where they finished third.

At State District Cross-Country meet on the Forest Park Course, Ed Schneider sprinted home in sixth place in 10:28; the team finished sixteenth out of 32 schools from Eastern Mo. This performance qualified Ed for the state meet. In the state meet, Ed improved his district exhibition by 19 seconds, as he completed the two-mile course in 10:09, good enough for fourth place. This also established a new school record.

At the Riverview Freshman and Sophomore Cross-Country Meet at Forest Park, Jennings Sophomore Harriers took first place on the mile and a half course, by beating runners from Beaumont, Riverview, C.B.C., Ladue, University City, Normandy, and St. Louis U. High. Dennis Deppe led the Bulldogs to victory as he completed the course and was closely followed by Norman Campbell in 8:12. Dennis and Norman took second and third place medals. Completing the distance were Jim Dowdy, in eighteenth place, and Mike Stieferman in nineteenth place.

With the fine performances of the Jennings Bulldogs, this sport has come into its own.

JUNIOR OLYMPIADS

With a nucleus of 14 lettermen and strengthened by last year's Freshman squad, our 1961 tracksters anticipate another successful season.

Coach Jerry Burgoyne has toughened the current schedule to include meets with Ladue and power-laden University City.

Three senior trackmen are close to breaking existing school records; Ed Schneider in the quarter and mile runs, Rich Horvath in the discus throw, and Denny Kelly in the shot put. Schneider, along with Tom McMahon and Mike Lograsso look forward to breaking their existing time in the 880 yard relay.

With the purpose of providing wholesome recreation for those who participate, the current intramural program takes care of seventy boys.

Under the direction of Coach Burgoyne, the seventy boys are divided into eight teams that play every Monday night.

At the end of the season, a single elimination tournament is played. The winner of this tournament then plays the winner of the league.

Finally, to complete the season, Mr. Burgoyne and the captains select an all-star team to play the "B" Team.

VARSITY WINS RECOGNITION

Hockey, a sport well liked by many girls, is one of the most exciting and fastest-moving of any of the athletics in which women are participants. This sport at Jennings lasts from October to the end of the varsity season in November.

The season started with 33 members on the Intramural team and ended with 20 girls on the varsity squad. Both teams of ready and willing girls had an exciting and outstanding season.

Our girls should be very proud of themselves for courageously wearing the traditional colors of Jennings red and white through many a rough and hardy battle.

Nancy Blodgett, Sandy Cool, and Ann Monaco are Captains of Intramurals. Ann Monaco's team emerged as victors of the season.

"Good shot, that's a girl!," will be heard many times during the girls' varsity basketball season. Under the supervision of Miss Katie Purdom, nineteen girls were selected for the varsity team. Girls trying out for forward position have to display their skills in passing, lay ups, set shooting, free throws, jumping, and scrimmaging. The girls who tried out for guards displayed their skills in passing, rebounding, jumping, working the ball up to the center line, general handling, and scrimmaging. The captain of the varsity basketball team is Ann Monaco.

AN ERA ENDS
A NEW EPOCH BEGINS

On September 1, 1961, the Jennings School District doubled its school population by the annexation of West Walnut Manor, our neighbor to the south. Since there is no building large enough to accommodate their combined enrollments, the high schools in both districts operate as separate entities. Symbolic of this union is our picture of the basketball co-captains from both schools wearing respectively the Fairview "F" and the Jennings "J."
